Boundary Plan Steps Debated

(By Daily Courier Correspondent) GLENMORE — Glenmore's opening meeting on boundary extension ended with mixed feelings Monday night, as charges and counter-charges were hurled across the floor.

Main objection to the whole issue appeared to stem from the feeling that Glenmore would lose its identity.

Several north end residents of long standing felt that if boundary extension takes place and the northern part of the municipality secedes to unincorporated status, the name "Glenmore" will no longer exist.

In view of the fact sewerage did not affect the north end residents, meeting chairman J. J. Gerin explained the main points to be discussed would be domestic water rates and taxation.

Some residents were critical that meetings were not held sooner, contending there was insufficient time to weigh the pros and cons before the vote taken place.

To this Councillor Vic Haddad replied that "... nothing has been held back. There is no use calling meetings when the picture constantly changes." Reeve P. H. Mowbray emphasized the vote will not take place until early June, so that people would have ample time to consider the whole question.

'Sink Bomarc' Students Cry
NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—University students from Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa today staged an orderly demonstration against the Bomarc missile.

About 100 students, members of the Combined Universities Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament, participated. They arrived at North Bay late Monday night in a motorcade.

The young picketers met the early shift of workers at the Bomarc-SAGE construction site with signs and leaflets, bearing the general theme of "Ban the Bomarc."

Picketing was quiet at both main entrances to the defence project.

Marchers carried signs saying: "We must choose the arms race or the human race." "Nuclear defence is suicide." "Spend the money on health and education."

Summit Talks Unharmed By Spy Episode

LONDON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev in new notes to the Western Big Three accepts various proposals for conducting the summit conference in Paris and makes no mention of the U.S. spy plane incident, informed British sources said today.

Coming immediately after Khrushchev's denunciation of the aerial intrusion over the Soviet Union, the letters underline Western confidence that the summit meeting will be essentially unaffected by the plane episode.

In his letters to President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and President de Gaulle, Khrushchev agreed that the talks be conducted in absolute secrecy when they open Monday, informants said.

The Soviet premier also accepted various other proposals submitted to him recently by de Gaulle as host of the conference and on behalf of the Western Big Three.

These arrangements relate to the organization of the conference, times of meeting, the role of foreign ministers and so forth. Macmillan's aides said Khrushchev's letters do not call for a reply.

'Terror Reign' Africans Say
KITWE, Northern Rhodesia (Reuters) — Complaints of a "reign of terror" were made as demands for drastic action poured into government offices today after a weekend of riots in which dozens of whites were stoned and injured.

The "reign of terror" complaint came from the African Mineworkers Union president, Lawrence Katlungu.

At the same time the European Mineworkers Union sent a telegram to Colonial Secretary Ian Macleod in London calling for dismissal of Governor Sir Evelyn Hone because of his handling of this central African protectorate's "grave security problem."

THOUSANDS ATTEND CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

Thousands of Kelowna and district residents have so far attended the "Crusade for Christ" rally currently being held in the city.

Vernon City "Holds Line" On Budget
VERNON (Staff) — Taxation here will increase by only 1.22 school mills this year.

Council, after more than 60 hours' deliberation, has adopted a "hold the line" budget where by general and debt mill rate remains the same as last year.

Vernon, unlike most British Columbia municipalities, cannot combine school mills and those for general and debt purposes, since taxation policy differs from the two categories.

One school mill equals $15,130, the general and debt mill $19,607. School taxation is based on 100 per cent of the assessed value of land plus 75 per cent of the assessed value of improvements.

General and debt taxation's corresponding basis is 100 per cent and 50 per cent.

Last year the city's mill rates were 35.76, general, 4.74, debt, and 21.55, school. Although the general mill rate this year has increased to 36.82, the debt mill rate was reduced to 3.68.

The school mill rate has risen to 22.77.

Should Vernon adopt the 100 per cent property, 75 per cent improvement ratio, used by most communities, taxation would increase for owners of large buildings, treasurer G. J. Boer explained.

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Twenty-one white women, held in jail under emergency regulations, threatened today to go on a hunger strike unless the government releases them before Friday or files formal charges against them.

The women are among more than 1,700 persons of all races arrested since racial unrest took a violent turn in South Africa last month. Under the state of emergency invoked by the government, those arrested can be held indefinitely without being charged or arraigned.

The women, in a petition to Justice Minister Francois Erasmus, said none of them had been told the reason for their arrest or how long they would be detained. They denied committing any crimes.

U.S. in Turn Asks To Interview Pilot

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has informed the United States that the captured American spy pilot will be brought to trial under Soviet law.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia today formally protested to the United States against the intrusion of an American plane on Soviet territory May 1.

It was also disclosed that in return the United States has formally requested an interview with Pilot Francis Powers, whom Premier Khrushchev has said is alive and well in Moscow. Powers was brought to Moscow after being shot down near Sverdlovsk on May Day.

It was understood that the Soviet note also answered a U.S. inquiry of last Friday in which Russia was asked for more information about the plane incursions and the whereabouts of Powers.

American officials said all that was contemplated was to ask about Powers' welfare, how he was treated and if he has legal assistance.

Premier Khrushchev warned Monday night that Soviet rockets will shoot down any other intelligence planes that venture over Russian soil and will be turned against bases in any foreign nations that allow American spy missions.

U.S. Embassy officials said that if they could speak to Powers, there would be no attempt to cross-examine him on the story Khrushchev said he told.

Would Back Allies
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States said today it would uphold its defence commitments with its Allies if Russia should strike at their bases.

This was the reply given through the state department to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threat to hit back with rockets at any base which a U.S. ally allows to be used for spy flights into the Soviet Union.

The United States also promised Japan that it has not and will not use its high-flying U-2 jet planes there for flights on intelligence missions over Red territory.

However, state department press officer Lincoln White, who issued the U.S. statement, declined to say that the United States would continue to use other planes or planes based elsewhere for reconnaissance trips over Communist territory.

This was in line with a stand taken Monday by State Secretary Christian A. Herter after briefing congressional leaders on the Russian claim to have shot down a U.S. plane deep in Russian territory May 1.

Vernon Almost Reaches Goal in Red Cross Drive

BUILDING VALUES DOWN SHARPLY AT VERNON SO FAR THIS YEAR

VERNON (Staff) — New building assessed values are down considerably from last year.

April construction is valued at $147,600, while last year, a total of $477,620 worth of construction was recorded. To date, building values for 1960 are $595,482. For the comparable 1959 period the figure was $1,472,240.

A breakdown of April construction values follows: seven new one-family dwellings, $112,000; five dwelling additions, $9,000; one new two-family dwelling, $22,600; one new commercial addition, $3,000, and two new private garages, $1,000.

VERNON — Red Cross fund drive chairman R. H. (Bob) Ducharme announced today that Vernon and district raised $7,234 of its $7,500 quota in the recent fund drive.

"We were a little disappointed to have fallen short by such a small margin, but we are up almost 20 per cent over recent year contributions," said Mr. Ducharme.

Mr. Ducharme expressed his thanks on behalf of the Red Cross to the citizens of Vernon and district for their "generous support" to the volunteer canvassers, drivers and committee members and to the various publicity media for their time and efforts "so freely given."

Trumpet Band Receives Grant

VERNON (Staff) — Vernon Girl's Trumpet Band has been granted $300 for 1960 activities.

"This is not too much for such excellent publicity," Mayor F. F. Becker remarked as Monday's Council meeting.

The grant is the result of a request by bandmaster Robert Hodgson. The girls are fit for competition and have received many invitations to play out-of-town, but were hampered by insufficient funds, he told Council.

The band has been invited to play at Abbotsford May 28 during an international festival. A total of $150 in prize money is at stake.

This month, the girls will also perform for May Day celebrations in Vernon and at the annual Falkland stampede.

Other invitations have come from the Seattle Seafair, Calgary Stampede and Pacific National Exhibition.

A total of 38 girls participate, including 18 juniors.

Last year the Trumpet Band's awards included two permanent trophies, one for top place in the Seattle Seafair sweepstakes for junior bugle bands, another the PNE's first prize for trumpet bands.

Alderman Explains Refusal — There's Limit On Water Mains

VERNON (Staff) — Two appeals for water connections beyond city limits have been rejected by the city.

One request asking servicing of a proposed subdivision on 35th Avenue east, beyond municipal boundaries. The other application, refused by council was from a B.C. resident.

One reason water connections outside the city (to satisfy the demand) for 20 years, must be denied for non-city dwellings is limited capacity of water mains, city waterworks chair-Ald. Franklyn Valair remarked, Monday night's council meeting.

"I think these are our primary responsibilities," he said.

Council Approves Grant To Board Despite Protest

VERNON (Staff) — The city will grant $3,000 to Vernon Board of Trade. In addition, the grant provides another $500 if necessary.

The grant was a unanimous decision made at Monday night's council meeting.

The decision was made in the presence of William Halina, president of the Ratepayers' Association. The association, in a resolution directed to City Council, protested "grants and handouts" to "various local organizations." The reference includes the Board of Trade and Junior Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Halina stated.

"The money might be better spent on roads," the resolution stated.

Among those disagreeing was Ald. J. U. Holt.

"The Board of Trade is working solely for the interests of the city," he declared. "I feel they should receive city support."

"The Board of Trade and Jaycees perform a public service," Mayor F. F. Becker remarked. "The taxpayers have a responsibility to them. Everyone shares the tourist dollar either directly or indirectly," he added.

Ald. Franklyn Valair suggested that if there were no trade board "the city would have to do it all — perhaps at a greater cost."

ACCIDENT TOLL

VERNON (CP) — Damage totalling $8,225 was caused and three people were killed in ten accidents in the Vernon area during April, RCMP report. Six people were convicted on charges laid as a result of the accidents. The three killed died in a head on collision near Winfield.

Boundary Plan

agreed to take over the domestic water system in the north end of the municipality. The City of Kelowna has guaranteed 140,000 U.S. gallons of domestic water per day to this area, which in council's opinion is quite adequate. The monthly rate for domestic water would be $8.50, which could be reduced with additional service connections.

Assessor Sam Pearson presented taxation figures, using the 1960 mill rate compared to the lower rate should this area revert to the province. Even after taking into consideration the higher domestic water rate ($8.50 against $4.70) there was an over-all saving in the area of 28.6 per cent, with individual savings ranging from $22.48 a year to $114.88. Of the whole area, only nine property owners on small lots will be paying more as a result of boundary extension and they range from $1.30 to $21.60 a year. There are 101 pieces of property in the area.

Reeve Mowbray said Glenmore's largest mill rate increase in its history this year, 30 1/2 per cent, was due to the 1959 expenditures was the rate for general purposes kept down to 20 mills (1059 rate was 12.92 mills). He could see no let up in 1960 continued taxation increase.

Speaking on behalf of council, he publicly recommended boundary extension. He outlined the voting procedure, admitting it was complex and complicated (Details of this procedure have been published before).

After the various votes are taken, the northern part of Glenmore will be given the opportunity to secede and be under the provincial government.

boundary extension if the south end is in favor, but is only opposed to the proposed boundaries, contending that if left where they are, they will work a financial hardship on the Glenmore Irrigation District, both from an irrigation and domestic water standpoint. He thought the boundaries should be moved back to Knox Mountain Road.

Speaking on behalf of Glenmore Irrigation District, trustee Gino Yamamoto said a meeting would be held tonight and that the board of trustees would reply to Mr. Snowsall's suggestions, and also answer other pertinent questions pertaining to irrigation.

Councillor L. E. Marshall said twice as much money is being spent on roads and water, and felt these expenditures would have to continue, resulting in continued increases in taxes.

Treasurer J. H. Hayes, answering a question as to why more debentures are not issued covering certain capital expenditures, rather than having them come out of current revenue, said only certain expenditures can be paid for by a debenture issue, and that with the depressed bond market, this method of financing is not always the most economical. The recent debenture issue floated for Glenmore's domestic water line, is costing ratepayers almost three mills, he said.

SUBDIVISION REGULATIONS

Subdivision regulations are less stringent in unorganized areas, Assessor Pearson said, and these would apply to the northern part of Glenmore, should it revert.

Some persons felt that the voting procedure was not ethical on the boundary extension question, but Councillor Haddad explained both councils had to comply with the provisions of the municipal act and directives of the department of municipal affairs.

"Time is not on Glenmore's side. Municipal costs throughout the province have become enormous in the past few years, and whatever you do now, will be cheaper than five years from now," Professor Oberlander summed up.

A public meeting will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Glenmore School to discuss boundary extension as it concerns the municipality.

Today, John McMurray and Mary his wife travel to town together. For him the journey to the office is an every day routine. For Mary it's something special — an exciting early start to a day's shopping. For both a busy day lies ahead... one during which they'll make good use of the services their bank provides.

A Proud Industry Gets Chance To Blow Its Horn

If you live in the Okanagan, then you know all about fruit. All the little kids know that an apple tree is to be respected, or any other fruit tree for that matter. Apple trees grow apples, peach trees have peaches and so it goes. If you don't live in the Okanagan, then you come to it for a treat, either expecting to see seas of blossoms if it's spring-time or to smell the fruit-perfumed air if it's fall, and to taste the fruit's flavoured goodness.

Fruit financially makes or breaks the people who live in the Okanagan. A saleable crop bolsters the spirit of those who live here. A frost, hail, or otherwise damaged crop depresses.

There were times—only about 12 years ago, when a lot of fruit was wasted. After the inspectors who pass or reject the crop had finished, there were always culls—the fruit that the eagle eye of the inspector wouldn't pass as suitable for retailing. Perhaps the color wasn't bright enough. Perhaps the size was below that which people prefer. It had all the qualities of better looking and better sized fruit, it had food value—what could be done with it? If something could be made from it, then it would be an asset rather than a waste product.

So, through the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, the B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. was formed—a company owned by the fruit growers of the Okanagan and Kootenay Valleys, to make the by-product from that part of the crop which was formerly not thought to be of much use.

And like the Ugly Duckling in the fairy story, the cull by-product industry has grown up to be a sparkling useful member of the farmyard. In fact it is the founder of the now famous mountain grown, Sun-Rype family, and so clearly labelled with the Sun-Rype crest that even children recognize it on a shelf.

It was started in 1946 in a comparatively small way by incorporating four existing plants. Since that time a complex of buildings, equipment and facilities has grown and been improved until that Ugly Duckling has disappeared completely. Processing—an important agribusiness has grown from it, capable of handling 2,000,000 boxes of apples in a season—as much as one-third of the entire crop. The harvests flow through myriads of processes arriving in your kitchen clean, prepared, ready for use, as if by built-in maid service.

In the first ten years the B.C. Fruit Processors, the growers' organization, handled 12,780,000 boxes of apples which otherwise would have been a total loss, and after all the costs were paid, had earned $3,800,000.00 in so doing.

In 1956 the gross sales amounted to more than $2,000,000.00. It is a fact that in one year alone nearly one million cases of apple juice have been made ready to drink. Like the farmer who estimated the Marine Building in Vancouver would hold a lot of hay, one fruit grower calculated fairly accurately that one season's output of juice would half fill it.

All fruit is obtained from the 50 packing houses in the Okanagan and Kootenay Valleys. Most of it is trucked by the company's fleet of trucks and custom trucks with only a small amount shipped by rail. There are five plants, two located in Kelowna, one at Woodside by Woods Lake, one each at Oliver and Creston. During the operating season, the average movement of fruit, empty boxes, plant waste and finished, labelled cans to storage amounts to about 120 truck loads every day.

This week has been designated Sun-Rype Week—an opportunity for the grower-owned company to bring to the attention of the public that the Okanagan grows—and produces—top quality produce.

It's seldom that the industry gets a chance to "blow its own horn."

Time To Cheak Your Boat

Boating authorities say a good sailor always knows the condition of his craft from stern to stern. This is the time of year to find out any weak spots in your boat and make the necessary repairs.

Here are some suggestions: All boats should be thoroughly inspected, inside and out, before launching. Fibre glass and metal boats should be checked for damaged or weak spots and necessary repairs made. Steel boats should be scraped, sanded and painted.

Wooden hulls should be scraped and sanded to remove loose or flaky paint and varnish. Give special attention around ribs and between ribs and planking in lap-streak construction. Wash with detergent and flush thoroughly. Check for dry rot or spongy planks by testing with the blade of a pen-knife, especially along the keel, ribs and transom. Defective planking, knees or ribs should be repaired.

Cleaning, scraping, sanding and repairing takes more time and patience than the actual painting and varnishing. But without this careful preparation the finished job will not be satisfactory. Never apply a heavy coat of paint or varnish. Two light coats last longer and give greater protection to your boat.

Check all ropes and lines for wear. Twist open strands of rope and check inside for signs of rotting. Replace if doubtful of condition. Be sure life jackets, safety cushions, oars, paddles, anchor and anchor rope, fire extinguisher and navigation lights are in good condition. Be sure safety equipment as authorized by the Department of Transport meets with required regulations for your boat.

Unless you are an expert yourself, have your outboard motor checked by a competent mechanic and overhauled if required.

Proper spring inspection of small craft will add much to the safety of the sailing season, thereby assuring pleasure to a form of recreation which is steadily increasing in popularity.

New Book on U.K. Parliament Pays Tribute To Churchill

LONDON (CP) — In one of the most caressing voices that colleagues of the parliamentary Harry Boardman's last articles has ever captivated the ear of the House of Commons... it almost seems a miracle that there is a glory of the sun, another of the moon and also a glory of Parliament.

The occasion was the return to the House of Commons of Sir Winston Churchill after a long and near-fatal illness and the "vivaldi," clapping his hands now "multitudinous and affectionate" and then, "There would not have been much incongruity about it if he had been calling to his fellow-peers, 'Count your blessings, count your blessings, who is saved!'"

Non-partisan in his praises, Boardman lauded the Liberal Lloyd George as "genius unconfined," the Conservative Churchill as "the most engaging human being the House of Commons has seen in our day or perhaps any day," and Labor's Clement Attlee as "one of the finest characters a score of other figures are illuminated by flashes of vivid portraiture."

Churchill Praised
The principal heroes emerging from his pages are Churchill and the late David Lloyd George, who was served by the House as a score of other figures are illuminated by flashes of vivid portraiture. Stanley Baldwin "had one of near-Churchillian affection by his colleagues of the parliamentary press, returns again and again to Sir Winston.

Mounting Personal Debts Of Servicemen Worry Army

OTTAWA (CP) — Senior officers of the armed forces are concerned about growing personal debts of soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Demands on special armed forces loan funds to bail them out of financial troubles are increasing.

One officer said hundreds of soldiers are moonlighting — holding extra jobs — to make ends meet.

Maj. Gen. J.D.B. Smith, army adjutant-general, said in an interview in Vancouver that soldiers are getting into financial difficulties and the army is worried about their mounting debts.

URGENT TO SPEND
Vice-Admiral H.T.W. Grant, president of the Royal Canadian Navy Benevolent Fund, said sailors are subjected to a "constant barrage of propaganda" urging them to live beyond their means.

Families with "quite reasonable incomes" were "hopelessly in debt through purchases made, in loans at truly majestic interest rates, on credit and later financed by a series of rates," he told the fund's annual meeting here.

The army's emergency loan fund, which makes interest-free loans to soldiers, has almost doubled its lending in two years to $661,000 in 1959 from $346,000 in 1957.

One army spokesman said these soldiers aren't going into debt over luxuries. Most debts to private loan companies were on household furniture and appliances.

SPARE-TIME CABBIES
The Army Benevolent Fund, which makes a ke's outright gifts to needy soldiers, gave $170,000 last year compared with $105,000 in 1957.

As for moonlighting, one officer said that in Halifax many servicemen work long hours as taxi drivers. In Ottawa, passersby can see uniformed troops working nights as cleaning staff in private offices.

Merchants and finance companies cannot get court orders to collect debts as they can with civilians. However, there are other legal ways of collecting the debts.

There have been recurring complaints about how service wages compare with those in private industry.

NO OVERTIME
An army sergeant carpenter, for instance, makes $345 a month including trades pay and other allowances, compared with about $400 for his union member equivalent. There's no overtime pay for the sergeant.

Servicemen also complain about the frequent moves — post costs in setting up a family in a year — with added housekeeping costs come about once every three months. If a soldier is posted overseas and must leave his family behind, his wife must get along on about two-thirds of his salary.

Servicemen at bases where there are married quarters are more fortunate. They get heated family housing at rents ranging from $61 for a private to $125 for a major — general. However, only 13,000 of the army's 31,000 married troops are in such quarters.

To help meet the higher rents in private quarters, the services pay such families a living allowance.

Servicemen get free medical care for themselves and an allowance for clothing. But their service pay has to cover all the other family expenses any civilian father has to carry.

PARAGRAPHICALLY SPEAKING

Of people, this is sadly true: The more they talk, the less they do.

A "point of no return" that everyone faces and fears is the grave.

Either marriages aren't made in heaven or mistakes are made there.

"Nothing is sure but death and taxes," and of the two, death is considered the worse. Anyway you can be thankful you don't have to die as often as you have to pay taxes.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

THE CATCH PHRASE

Periodically someone conceives, labors and produces a Catch Phrase. I noted one such ponderous achievement recently and by no less a person than a candidate for Parliament. "What we need," he remarked, "is Social Justice, not Social Credit."

Now that was a truly noble effort, if it had meant anything, but I am afraid that it was a case of "sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." Ever since I can remember, which is getting to be a most uncomfortably long time, we have been promised social justice. Just what social justice may be, I would not know, but it makes a good going to bang on.

The other side of this meaningless statement is that we do not have Social Credit. I do not know what Social Credit means, I doubt very much whether the Premier does. Certainly, I attended one of his meetings and I did not hear Social Credit mentioned, let alone explained. So this Catch Phrase, emanating from our would-be M.L.A., is simply a cap full of hot air, a tale told twice I am certainly not going all the way on that quotation (but signifying nothing).

In another department of our life today, I hear another Catch Phrase, or saying, "If you have time to spare, go by air." Well, the truth of the matter is that, in most cases, if you have time to spare and go by air, you will be sitting at your journey's end for days, waiting for something to do. Travelling by air is, in the main, satisfying swift. The result of this plug is that next time I go a-flying I shall probably get stuck in the Metropolitan of Horse Fly for hours due to engine trouble. I should still fly, because flying works, just as I shall still vote Social Credit in this riding because whatever the thing may be, it works, and not, as the critics here me, Federal Tories, however, I give warm-up to the horse of another color. Then there are the cigarette Catch Phrases.

OTTAWA REPORT

High Level Shake-Ups

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Minor shake-ups at a high level in the government service are taking place here.

A new post as Consul-General for Canada in New Orleans, U.S.A. has been created; to this J. G. Blison has been appointed although he has six years to run in his present appointment as chief commissioner of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Laval Fortier, who was appointed by the St. Laurent government to fill the post as deputy minister of citizenship and immigration, has resigned, and he will succeed to the preferable post vacated by Blison—reportedly despite strong opposition by Labor Minister Mike Starr, who sought a warm-hearted but able administrator to fill that sensitive post handling unemployment.

One of the two deputy ministers in the department of health and welfare is being transferred to fill Fortier's previous post. In connection with these moves, it has been reported that Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough "cannot get on with" Fortier.

LIBERAL PLANS MATURE

What is especially arresting about these moves is that the Conservative government, after 34 months in office, has thus reached the decision to make the exact Fortier-to-Blison switch which was rumored to have been planned by the former Liberal government before its defeat.

Presumably Liberal Immigration Minister Jack Pickersgill "could not get on with" Fortier either. Another shake-up involves the promotion of the deputy minister of national defence, Air Vice Marshal Frank Miller, to be chairman of the chiefs of staff committee. It is being loudly whispered here that C. M. Drury, who held that deputy-ministership briefly under a Liberal government, may be re-appointed to it. He has recently been employed in private business in Montreal, where his family is said to be strongly Liberal.

It might be exaggeration to say that the Liberals paraphrase the poet Robert Browning to chant: "O to be in Ottawa, now that the Tories are there." But they are certainly being given plenty of rope as regards appointments and patronage, and there is little sign that they are hanging themselves. Some Liberals have chuckled to me over the Fortier switch, as being a vivid example of time lost through the change of government. And they draw the conclusion that the Conservatives still do not realize that they are in power, possessed of the authority conferred by our laws and customs for the benefit of our elected governors.

SUPER-MINISTERS

This authority includes the power to fire any deputy minister considered uncooperative, and to replace him by a new deputy of the cabinet's choice. All deputies in office when the Tories took over had been appointed or confirmed by the outgoing Liberal government. Many were friends, advisers and even policy-framers to their Liberal masters, and subject to the human frailty of resenting the rejection by the electorate of their favored policies, and of resenting their change by the incoming government. Two deputy ministers, according to widespread belief, would have been taken into the Liberal cabinet had it remained in power, just as Mike Pearson and Jack Pickersgill had previously been recruited into the civil service direct into that cabinet.

Not all civil servants support the Conservative government in its politics or policies; five of the six Ottawa district constituents returned Liberal MPs, to make this capital the last remaining bastion of Liberalism in Canada. This makes it obvious that many civil servants would like to see their former masters return to power—an ambition not weakened by Conservative failures to dismiss or even transfer any who are reasonably believed to have given aid, comfort and even leaks to the opposition.

REPORT FROM THE UK

Overseas Students Made Welcome

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON — A drive to make overseas students studying in the United Kingdom feel more at home is being instituted by a special committee set up by the Southwark diocese of the Church of England to tackle the problem of the magnitude of the problem is set forth in figures issued by the Colonial Office, showing that there are 18,588 young men and women from dependent territories of the United Kingdom studying in this country, and the Irish Republic, compared with just over 4,000 10 years ago.

More than one out of every three of these students are nurses, of whom there are 6,365. Of the total number, 3,383 are studying at universities. After nursing, the most popular subject is law, which is the choice of 2,237 of the overseas students. There are 1,814 studying for the general certificate of education, 1,207 studying engineering and technology and 1,041 in medicine and pharmacy. The many subjects being taken by the remainder range from pure science to public administration, and from commerce to catering.

FROM MANY COUNTRIES
Over one-third of the students come from West Africa, 5,813 of them from Nigeria. There are 5,524 from the West Indies, British Guiana and British Honduras, 2,713 from East and Central Africa, 2,268 from the Far East, 898 from Mediterranean countries and 547 from other dependencies.

The campaign to make contact with these students and help them to become oriented to life in Britain is being led by 63-year-old Lt.-Col. Robert Rhode, who lives in Wimbledon in South London. He is secretary of the special committee.

Col. Rhode has already located some 6,000 overseas students studying in South London. They came from places all over the world, like Ghana, Nigeria, Persia, Uganda, Malaya and Turkey," he said. "Some of them are terribly lonely, and they have no chance of meeting ordinary British people. The committee is trying to provide them with opportunities to do so."

The committee members are encouraging people living in the diocese to invite overseas students into their homes as guests for meals or for weekends. A start has been made at the Balham and Tooting College of Commerce, where there are 700 overseas students. So far, more than 100 of them have been introduced into the homes of South London families.

One problem the committee has to overcome is the initial suspiciousness of some of the students. The colonel said: "They are usually very shy and they are often very much on their guard when we offer to help. But as soon as they see there are no strings attached to the offers of friendship, everything is usually all right."

Foundation Garments Key To Effective Paris Fashions

PARIS (Reuters)—Paris fashion designers demand self-control as they can change the female form as easily as a new hat fluctuating figure. Couturiers dictate nature's course with a wardrobe of different undergarments prove that no woman is obliged to conform to nature's exact proportions.

Christian Dior decrees that bosoms should be flat in the day time, and accentuated after dark. Pierre Cardin votes for hips as slender as a broomstick under tabular street dresses, but rounds the hips in bubble-skirted formal fashions.

Today, a special bra and girdle can change the female form almost as easily as a new hat changes the aspect of the face. Paris couturiers and corsetiers prove that no woman is obliged to conform to nature's exact proportions.

The popular princess silhouette demands a subtle camouflage. Clothes caress the body without touching it and although waistlines generally are uncinched, the figure beneath must be subtle and slender.

Case Of Rudolf Hess' Son Raises Important Issue

MUNDELANG, West Germany (AP)—The maulman walked up to a hotel in this Alpine resort with a letter for Adolf Hitler's godson.

It was from the draft board, telling Wolf Ruediger Hess that he cannot be recognized as a conscientious objector.

The youth is the son of the highest-ranking former Nazi leader still behind bars. His father, one-time deputy fuhrer, Rudolf Hess, is serving a life term at West Berlin's Spandau war crimes prison.

Wolf Ruediger, a student of engineering at Munich's technical university, will appeal the draft-board ruling. He thinks he has a case.

When the Nuremberg war crimes tribunal tried his father for plotting aggression, the evidence against Hess included his signature on the Nazi military conscription law of 1935.

"I am confident you will understand," Wolf Ruediger had written to the draft board, "that my conscience forbids me to serve (in an army allied with) the former judges of my father. It would be a service which, as you can see from the verdict against my father, could later be held against me in a way that I could be put before a similar court."

To many Germans, his case re-emphasized the paradoxical situation of their country now re-armed with Allied support less than 10 years after they were told that militarism was a despicable crime.

GOOD ARGUMENT
"I believe my son has a good argument there," said Mrs. Hess who runs a small mountain hotel here. "I feel it's worth the money to take the case before an appeals authority. I think my husband would approve of this."

It will be 19 years on May 10 since Mrs. Hess talked with her husband. She caught her last glimpse of him two hours before he boarded a twin-engine Messerschmitt for a secret "peace mission" to Scotland in 1941. Hess parachuted into captivity. Hitler, who had once picked Hess as his successor, announced that the deputy fuhrer had acted in a fit of mental derangement.

"I still remember the day, of course," Mrs. Hess said. "I felt ill that morning and Rudolf sat by my bed to have tea with me. He told me he had to go to Berlin."

"When he returned from British custody to be tried at Nuremberg, he sent word that he did not want me to visit him under the circumstances. He has never changed his mind about this."

"I tried last about a year ago to see him but he refused again. He hasn't even seen the boy since he was imprisoned. He is a stubborn man. But I think the real reason behind this stubbornness is that he fears a reunion in prison would be too much for him."

Some doctors and one fellow-prisoner have said that Hess appears to suffer from schizophrenia. There was a report that he tried to kill himself with an insecticide.

"I know that he was seriously ill at one time," Mrs. Hess said. "But it's not true that he ever tried to commit suicide. I know through there were two attempts when he was in England."

Mrs. Hess looked at a drawing of her husband hanging in her studio. A blonde in her fifties, she wore a white kitchen overall during the interview.

There were no Nazi symbols around although Mrs. Hess does not make a secret of the fact that she once was a fervent admirer of Hitler. After the war, a denazification court sentenced her to a nominal fine after hearing evidence that she helped several Nazi victims.

Traffic Safety Quiz No. 3

Can you find 10 traffic hazards in this picture?

Look sharp! This quiz checks more than the acuteness of your vision. It also tests your judgment of what's right and wrong on the road. Look again—then rate yourself against the list. But keep in mind that perceiving a traffic hazard is not enough. A good driver is always prepared to take instant action to avoid trouble.

Like all good citizens, Shell is interested in safety. We urge you to be alert, drive carefully, know the rules—and obey them. Remember: about 75% of all accidents are caused by the driver—not the car.

- (Each hazard is located by letter and by number. For example, FB indicates the location of the station wagon at the lower right of the picture where lines from F and B would cross.)
- 1 Boat on station wagon is improperly secured (FB, lower right)
 - 2 Driver's rear vision blocked by packages (JB, lower right)
 - 3 Parked car not completely off highway (C10, center right)
 - 4 Car attempting to pass on the right (D7, center)
 - 5 Car with trailer is cutting in on car at left (BB, upper center right)
 - 6 Car crossing divider (A6, top center)
 - 7 Child losing ball from car (E4, left center)
 - 8 Driver reaching in back of car, his eyes off road (G1, lower left)
 - 9 Car following car ahead too closely (D2, left center)
 - 10 Car with one door not completely closed (I-5, bottom center)
- (These are major hazards; there are others. If you found more than ten, congratulations!)

Role Of The Kidneys
An All-Important One

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Recently I wrote a column about the widespread use of the artificial kidney.

Then it dawned upon me a short time later that relatively few of you know much about your own kidneys, let alone the artificial variety. So let me try to explain a little about these all-important organs today.

CHEMICAL FORMULA

Our lives depend upon the maintenance of a definite chemical formula within our bodies. For example, the liquid within our bodies must remain at a set pattern.

Yet we are constantly eating, drinking and, of course, breathing. This means the formula is continuously being unbalanced. And too many or too few of the components actually act as poisons.

EASILY-SOLVED PROBLEM

Seems the balancing problem would be quite a problem, doesn't it?

Well, it is, but the problem is solved easily and efficiently by the kidneys, the half-pound organs which daily filter out and reassemble almost ten times the entire body weight in water and salt.

Let's take a close-up look at the kidneys.

Take both of your fists and clench them together. Now try to imagine 138 miles of tubing compressed into those two fists.

This tubing comprises 4,000,000 units, half of them tubes and half of them tufts. The tubes are mere three-thousandths of an inch thick. The tufts are pinpoint-sized.

These, then, are the kidneys, the all-important kidney-bean-shaped organs located right in the center of your body.

They manufacture chemicals as well as acting as a filter system. But let's stick to the filtering process.

FILTER 300 QUARTS

The tiny tufts filter about 300 quarts a day. All but about one quart are taken back in by the kidney tubes. They select the chemicals needed by the blood.

The remaining excess is sent to the bladder and excreted from the body.

Simple, huh?

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. J. B.: Is it normal to pass a large amount of mucous membrane in the urine for as long as six months with no ill effects?

Answer: This is not normal and warrants a careful examination by your doctor, including urinalysis.

700 SAVED

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lifeguards rescued more than 700 swimmers Sunday as hundreds of thousands flocked to beaches from Los Angeles to San Diego. Two of those rescued were in hospital, one in critical condition, as heavy surf and riptides trapped compressed into those two fists.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 1NT Pass 3NT
Opening lead — queen of hearts.

Safety plays take many forms. The underlying principle is that declarer adopts measures to protect himself against a possible unfavorable distribution of the adverse cards. Declarer is willing at times to sacrifice a trick, perhaps needlessly, in order to provide the maximum protection against loss of the contract.

The large family of safety plays need not necessarily be memorized. They are supposed to suggest themselves automatically when a particular set of circumstances arises. They flow naturally from the prevailing situation.

Thus, in this hand, against a heart lead, South sees that there are only seven sure tricks immediately available. Obviously, the best source of obtaining two additional tricks lies in the diamond suit.

The normal way of dealing with the diamonds is to cash the king and then lead a small one towards the A-J, intending to finesse the jack. But this method of play is better designed to obtain the maximum number of diamond tricks than it is to fulfilling the contract.

The trouble with playing the diamond in this fashion is that it does not protect against the possibility that East was dealt four diamonds to the Q-10. Since declarer will probably be unable to make the contract if this turns out to be the case, he should turn his thoughts to preparing for this distinct possibility.

He can protect himself fully by winning the heart lead in his hand and playing a low diamond to the ace. When both opponents follow, the contract becomes assured. A low diamond is then led from dummy.

If East shows out, South wins with the king and leads a diamond towards the jack to assure four diamond tricks.

If East, on the second diamond lead, follows with a low card, declarer plays the nine. If West is able to win the trick, it means the diamonds were divided 3-2 and the contract is made. If West does not win the trick, once again four diamond tricks become certain.

The safety play guarantees the contract whether the suit is divided 3-2 or 4-1.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

With the advent of the Full Moon, you are cautioned, as usual, against emotionalism and going to extremes in any activity—especially in the a.m. You will be in position then to benefit by the cooperation and good will of family, friends and business associates, but you will have to do your part, of course, and cooperate with them. August should bring a fine upturn in your financial status and, there is also a possibility that you will receive unusual recognition in job matters.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you have good cause for optimism. Rays in your sector are better than they have been for several years past, and particularly favor those in the legal and medical professions, writers, designers, artists, executives, teachers and chemists.

Where personal relationships are concerned, the latter half of 1960 should be outstanding. You will be in position then to benefit by the cooperation and good will of family, friends and business associates, but you will have to do your part, of course, and cooperate with them. August should bring a fine upturn in your financial status and, there is also a possibility that you will receive unusual recognition in job matters.

A child born on this day will be competent, resourceful and unusually calm in emergencies.

TILLIE'S

New Restaurant Features Attractive Decor, Fine Food

Any tourists who in the past have spoken unkind words about some Kelowna eateries will gladly swallow their words with the dessert if they happen to drop into the new Tillie's Restaurant.

Owner Wendel Silbernagel has poured thousands of dollars into his 1570 Water Street establishment to make it one of Kelowna's finest in appearance as well as quality of food and service.

The restaurant now combines an attractive front with an old reputation for being the favorite downtown lunching place for businessmen.

Plate glass windows reveal to the passerby a roomy, well-lit dining area in contemporary style. The interior architect has placed new tables and counters into the old "Tillie's Grill," out-fitted it with a gleaming display case, and given the kitchen a face-lifting designed to take care of even the most "on-the-double-lunch-grabber" in the business section.

SON HELPS
Wendel first opened the restaurant under the name of "Tillie's Grill" in 1947. He is now assisted by his son, David.

The competent and efficient staff consists of waitresses Mary Gordey, Lillian Ponton and Leona Andres, and Helen Cole in the kitchen.

Business hours are 7 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Tillie's is the first restaurant in Kelowna to modernize its appearance this year. The face-lifting is timed to catch the flow of tourists which is beginning to roll in now. But besides giving Kelowna a better name with out-of-town diners, Wendel Silbernagel still puts one idea foremost in his service: cater to his old patrons and wo new ones—from Kelowna!

PRAIRIE BRIEFS

THREATENED POLICE
CALGARY (CP)—A Calgary woman, apparently calmed by her husband's words, Monday gave up her empty shotgun barricade and was taken quietly into custody after having threatened policemen investigating reports she had broken apartment windows and attacked a school teacher with the butt end of a knife. She was taken to hospital.

TURKEY STAMPEDE
EDMONTON (CP)—The appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court Monday rejected flying instructor Edward Pruss' appeal against having to pay damages for a turkey stampede caused by his low-flying plane. Pruss had contended he could not be expected to know his plane would cause such damage.

GOOD FOR DUCKS
WINNIPEG (CP)—Water conditions for ducks on the Prairies are greatly improved over 1959 but still well below the exceptional years of the mid-1950s. Ducks Unlimited reported Monday.
